Withiam J. Dixon, who is so well known in the Sixth Ward, has recently taken up the study of electricity, and is, so his friends say, evolving a scheme for lessening the dangers which are alleged to accompany the use of the trolley system of street-car locomotion. Billy has a baritone voice of great volume and much sweetness. His rendering of the song, " If The Waters Could Speak as They Flow," is said to be most touching.

The members of the Manhassett Club are just now regretting the fate that will part them from Joseph F. Loughlin, the joiltest member of that organization. Mr. Loughlin spends a month every Summer among the bills of Sullivan County, and Joe is just now preparing for his outing. In this connection it is said that Joe may not return to Brooklyn as heart-whole as he went, and it is a case of guess again as to which of three Sullivan County lassies will be the fortunate one.
